

Course Outcome as per Bloom's Taxonomy for English:

1. Knowledge:

- Identify and explain the difference between skimming and scanning in reading.
- Define and differentiate between active and passive listening skills.
- Recognize the various types of reading materials such as editorials, brochures, job applications, emails, etc.

2. Comprehension:

- Summarize personal readings and travelogues effectively.
- Interpret academic readings and reference materials accurately.
- Understand and extract information from job-oriented reading materials like emails and memos.
- Comprehend and analyze job interviews and conversations.

3. Application:

- Apply skimming and scanning techniques to gather information quickly and efficiently.
- Utilize effective listening skills in different scenarios like job interviews and conversations.
- Transfer knowledge of language and communication skills to practical situations like role plays, extempore, and group discussions.

4. Analysis:

- Analyze different speaking situations and tailor communication strategies accordingly.
- Break down complex writing tasks into manageable components like sentences, phrases, clauses, and paragraphs.
- Evaluate and critique speech writing for organization, coherence, and effectiveness.

5. Synthesis:

- Combine speaking and writing skills to create engaging and informative communication.
- Synthesize information from various sources to form coherent paragraphs.
- Generate creative and persuasive speeches for different purposes and audiences.

6. Evaluation:

- Assess one's own speaking and writing skills for improvement.
- Critically evaluate the effectiveness of different writing styles and techniques.
- Judge the quality and impact of communication in various contexts, such as presentations and speeches.